

Please write a definition for each of the following words:

Reproductive system: _____

urethra: _____

vagina: _____

uterus: _____

cervix: _____

fallopian tube: _____

ovary: _____

ovulation: _____

testicle: _____

epididymis: _____

scrotum: _____

penis: _____

semen: _____

prostate gland: _____

hormone: _____

Which structures are responsible for producing semen?

- A. Testicles and urethra
- B. Vas deferens and testicles
- C. Prostate gland and testicles
- D. Seminal vesicles and prostate gland

Which of the following is NOT true?

- A. Fertilized eggs develop within the ovaries
- B. Eggs are stored in and released from the ovaries
- C. the fallopian tubes connect the ovaries to the uterus
- D. girls are born with eggs already present in their ovaries

What is the main hormone involved in male sexual development?

- A. sperm
- B. estrogen
- C. testosterone
- D. progesterone

Males and females have very similar, if not identical, muscular systems, skeletal systems, respiratory systems and circulatory systems. Why do you think the reproductive systems are so different in males and females?